

The no call list should not be challenged, as if a person wants to receive calls from telemarketers, they won't put their phone number on the list. It's a choice and why should we be forced to receive calls from telemarketers?